Years ago, when someone wanted all of the back issues, they had to be photocopied and mailed. The amount of time that this took, not to mention the expense, meant it wasn't done very often. The twenty mile drive to town and the several hours required wasn't very efficient.

After the summer of 2001, Flicka Friends issues were produced as Adobe Acrobat Portable Document File (PDF) files. This change proved to be the best way to share the newsletter. After scanning the early issues, every Flicka Friends newsletters were posted on the Flicka 20.com website.

With fifty-nine issues of Flicka Friends, 869 pages of information, 1,506 photos, and 362 articles, there is a need for an index to locate specific articles and information about the Flicka.

As the editor with more familiarity than most, it often takes time to flip through the pages or the computer files. For someone new to the Flicka 20 and Flicka Friends, the task may take longer than many have the time for.

Hopefully, this index will be the reference that is needed to help everyone locate the article they are interested in.

Now that most of the work has been done, I'll try to publish an annual index that contains the new articles and photos for the previous year.

As usual, I'm looking for articles and photos about the Flicka. There is always a need for another article or a photo from your favorite cruising ground. If you would like to share an image or story about your Flicka, or a recent trip. Please let me know.

Thank You!

This newsletter has been in publication since the summer of 1995 and, including this index, there are fifty-nine issues so far. This index also shows the numerous people Flicka captains and crew members that have provided stories and photos from around the world. Without their help and assistance, Flicka Friends would not be what it is today.

Thank you!

ABOUT FLICKA FRIENDS

Flicka Friends is a newsletter that is written specifically for the people who own, crew aboard, or are interested in the Flicka, a twenty foot sailing vessel designed by Bruce P. Bingham.

Based on the Newport Boats of Block Island Sound, this little ship has been built from various materials from the 1970's until 2002. This includes Flickas constructed from plans obtained directly from Bruce's California office. About 400 sets of plans were sold. According to Bruce Bingham, many Flickas can be found in New Zealand, Australia, and Sweden.

A number of hulls were built by Nor'Star and some were completed by Westerly Marine. The manufacturer of the bulk of the class is Pacific Seacraft who built 434 hulls in California.

Flicka Friends is published on a quarterly basis: with issues being posted to the Internet in March, June, September and December. Articles and photographs are welcome and encouraged.

You can download the current issue as well as the back issues of Flicka Friends from the Flicka Home Page:

www.flicka20.com

Flicka Friends is always in need of articles and photographs for publication. Please consider sending something to me for the next issue of the newsletter.

Flicka Friends History

By Tom Davison

During the spring of 1995, Dennis Pratt and his son Geoff were returning from their boat storage when they first discussed the idea of a Flicka Newsletter. Dennis wanted to exchange ideas and information about maintaining the Flicka, to share stories about the Flicka and to establish Flicka gatherings.

The first issue attracted forty responses from two continents. Pacific Seacraft sent out 400 copies of the newsletter using their mailing list. The subscription numbers increased until roughly two hundred and fifty people were getting the newsletter. This included thirty-four U.S. States, three Canadian provinces and six other countries.

The early Flicka Friends issues were low tech and in black and white. At the time, color issues were possible but the additional printing costs limited this option.

Flicka Friends isn't the first Flicka related newsletter. Another newsletter called "The Scrollwork" was published by Morris and Karen London between June of 1984 and spring of 1987. Six issues were published. On the pages, you can find Flickas with their early owners, including # 171 sailing on Lake Mead by Del Delgado. There are stories about various gatherings, including one in Isthmus Cove in 1984 and another on Block Island.

Maybe the most unusual image that appeared on the pages of The Scrollwork was of Pacific Seacraft Flicka #284. Named Adventure, the Flicka was placed in a small swimming pool behind the brokers home. This must be the smallest body of water to ever float a Flicka. Another interesting image that appeared in The Scrollwork is that of NorStar Flicka # 5. This Flicka may be the only topsail gaff rig among the Flicka Fleet.

In the fall of 1997, Dennis asked me to consider taking the role of newsletter editor. Since my computer skills appeared to be up to the task, I agreed. After a couple of years, Dennis decided to remain the publisher and look over the final drafts. I was the editor.

We both had Microsoft Publisher on our computers. This software was and is currently used to create Flicka Friends. After a couple of years, I was looking for another way to publish the newsletter.

Conversion of Flicka Friends to the Adobe Acrobat PDF format in 2002 brought about a major change. Acrobat Pro is a software program that converts just about anything into the PDF files that are commonly used on the Internet.

Adobe Acrobat allowed me to take advantage of the YAHOO Flicka 20 Group on the Internet. Rather than creating a newsletter and photocopying it for mailing, the original publisher file would be "printed" into an Adobe PDF file. Even with years of computing, I still find the compression of a 250 MB file down to less than 2 MB incredible.

The best part about changing to PDF files is that the newsletter could be in full color. Since the newsletter was not being sent through the mail, the need to charge for the newsletter disappeared. This also meant that printing, folding, collating, sealing, applying stamps, placing mailing labels and mailing was gone as well.

Initially, the newsletter files were placed on the Yahoo Flicka 20 web page. The file limitations prevented posting all the back issues.

Hal DeVaney helped with the back issues of Flicka Friends for a while. He also recommended moving the Flicka Home Page to the company he uses for his business.

In 1999, Rod Bruckdorfer started the Flicka Home Page on the Internet. He managed this site until turning it over to me in 2001. The web page was created and placed on a local Internet server using the space provided with the basic e-mail account.

After reviewing provider and comparing costs in 2005, the decision to move the Flicka Home Page was made. This would finally allow all the Flicka Friends back issues to be placed on the Flicka Home Page.

A new domain name was selected. Since flicka.com was already taken, flicka20.com was selected. The move took some time. Modifying nearly 300 web pages by correcting links, removing unnecessary graphics and adding new pages took roughly six months of my spare time. This process would have been faster, but my computer crashed during the process and rebuilding the information required additional time.

By May, most of the Flicka 20 Home Page had been moved. Best of all, Flicka Friends is available on the Internet at the Flicka Home Page. The web page has been popular with hits coming in from around the world.

In 2008, Gus Bear, the captain of s/y CARAWAY (Flicka # 423) agreed to take over the duties of the Flicka Home Page webcaptain. He migrated the existing information to a software program called DOT.NET Nuke. He is continuing to manage the Flicka 20 Home Page.

At the same time, Daryl Clark, captain of s/y BALLO LISCIO took over as the editor for Flicka Friends. Several issues were produced until a computer crash killed three more issues.

In October of 2012, Daryl Clark and I agreed on a change for the editor and he turned the control over Flicka Friends back to me. The newest issues are created using the MAC and their Pages desktop program and Adobe Acrobat Pro.

A photo issue in the fall of 2012 was posted on the Yahoo Flicka 20 site at a lower resolution. A higher resolution version was posted to the Flicka 20 Home Page. Plans were laid for another photo issue in January of 2013 and a "regular" issue in March of 2013.

The March 2013 was the fiftieth issue of Flicka Friends, certainly a milestone. While there have been some gaps in printing. The newsletter has continued through the years. With seven issues, this was also the year with the most issues published. With as many as 34 pages, a single issue in 2013 often exceeds the number of pages in an entire year at the beginning of this newsletter.

Hopefully, this newsletter will continue to be published for another ten years. I would expect that the interest in the Flicka will mean these fine little yachts will be with us for many years to come.

The Flicka stands out among sailing vessels. It is a sailboat that draws your attention. The Flicka is pleasing to the eye and it is seaworthy as well. The Flicka is something that Bruce P. Bingham can be very proud of.

Thank you Bruce!
